INTRODUCTION

The orthography of the name varies upon the ancient records: de Maunsell, Mansell, Mancil, Monsell, Monsel, Munsell. It is now written Munsell by most of the families in America.

Sir Philip de Maunsell of Normandy was one of the companions of William the Conqueror, in the invasion and conquest of England by the Normans. His eldest son Henry Maunsell was the father of Sir John Maunsell, Lord Chancellor of St. Pauls and keeper of the King's Seal. His son, Sir Henry Maunsell settled in Glamorganshire and was the ancestor of Sir Thomas Mansell created Baronet, and of Sir Thomas Mansell who was created Baron Mansell of Margam.

A branch of the family settled in Ireland and is known as Monsell of Tervoe.

EXPLANATION OF NUMBERING

The number preceding a name refers to the numerical order in which that name appears in the following pages. These numbers which first appear before the names of the children are again used when that name again appears on another page.

In the lineages (pages 33 to 44) the Roman numerals preceding a name refer to the generation.
